Paire: three commercial observations from ProfitPulse

01

The online engine outgrew its plan

Revenue moved from one million to ten million between 2021 and 2024, with the Smart50 rank climbing from 38th to 13th to 15th. That pace rarely arrives paired with the multi year financial model a physical rollout now needs before it, not after.

02

One store is a pilot, not a program

The QV Melbourne flagship opened January 2025. Two to three Sydney stores and more Melbourne sites are planned within eighteen months. Each carries its own fit out, stock, and staffing cost. A rollout needs a shared model ranking each site's return before the lease is signed.

03

Capital is already part of the story

The 2024 Shark Tank pitch sought $500,000 for 2.5 percent equity alongside a new Singapore line. That confirms growth capital is already being weighed, on a lean sixteen person team. A Growth Diagnostic ranks trading cashflow, debt, and equity against each store's expected return.

These observations are offered in good faith. Paire has built something genuinely fast growing. The question is simply whether the financial architecture keeps pace with the ambition.
