iCatalyst: Three commercial observations from ProfitPulse

01

Delivery capacity is outpacing visibility iCatalyst grew from 33 to 50 people while revenue rose from $5.22M to $13.5M, then added two senior Delivery Executives in May 2026 to run larger projects. The natural next question is whether billable time across a now multi state team is converting into margin as cleanly as headcount is converting into cost.

02

One acquisition, two different margins

The June 2026 acquisition of Beyond CRM brings a second Dynamics practice, a Brisbane office and a new client base into the group. Two service businesses combined almost always carry two different margins by client and by project. Knowing which engagements now drive the group's real profitability matters before Perth and Brisbane are assumed to perform alike.

Expansion is a capital allocation choice

Consultants now sit in Perth, Victoria, Queensland and New South Wales, built on project wins rather than one announcement. Three straight Smart50 rankings, 40th, then 4th, then 16th, show sustained growth. The open question for any board is where the next dollar of reinvestment, people, delivery capacity or further acquisitions earns the best return.

These are observations offered in good faith. iCatalyst has built something genuinely impressive. The question is simply whether the financial architecture is keeping pace with the ambition.
