The commercial observation

AdUnion has compounded at 81 percent over three years and now manages streaming campaigns for Samsung, Tubi, Tangerine Telecom, and a growing roster across retail, travel, and financial services. With ten people generating $9.3 million in revenue, productivity is exceptional and the growth record is verifiable across three independent Australian lists.

The question that follows rapid, diversified client growth is: which accounts drive the real margin after the full cost of service, team time, and platform investment are allocated? In most agencies at this stage, the answer is uneven. The clients that look largest by revenue are rarely the ones that yield the most after full cost allocation.

The Customer Concentration and Profitability Map answers that question in three weeks: every client ranked by revenue, gross margin contribution, and effort to serve. The output is a clear action list: grow these, reprice these, reset these. At this scale and growth velocity, that map is the most leveraged financial insight available.
