My Wealth Solutions: three commercial observations from ProfitPulse

01

Six offices, one performance picture, or not yet

The practice has grown from one Newstead office in 2011 to six locations across Queensland, New South Wales, and Victoria, lifting revenue 47 percent to 9.9 million dollars in the year that earned Smart50 rank 25. Each office carries its own referral splits, servicing cost, and licensee fees. Without a location by location margin view, a quietly subsidised office can look identical to a strong one.

Fifty five people is a company, not a practice

Headcount has grown to 55 alongside revenue, a point where informal, founder led oversight usually starts to strain. Three consecutive GPS Wealth Practice of the Year wins confirm client outcomes are strong. What those awards do not confirm is whether cost base and workforce capacity are still returning a proportional margin as the team has grown.

The award record is proof, the numbers are the next step

An AFR Fast 100 mention, an ifa Excellence Awards nod, and three GPS Wealth trophies make this one of the more credentialed growth stories in Australian financial advice. That record carries real weight with a bank, a licensee, or a future partner. Businesses that convert growth stories into value are the ones holding clean, location level numbers behind the headline.

These observations are offered in good faith. My Wealth Solutions has built something genuinely impressive in fifteen years. The question is simply whether the financial architecture across six offices is keeping pace with the ambition.

Operational Intelligence Review

$6,500 one off

A six week review across four lenses: customer concentration and profitability, product and service line margin, workforce capacity, and operational bottlenecks, mapped office by office and adviser by adviser.
