Taskforce Australia: three commercial observations from ProfitPulse

01

Three products, one blended number

TradieConnect prices by the job, RentSafe runs on real estate office contracts, and RentRepair charges a flat 59 dollars a month. The Smart50 citation reports one blended figure across all three, 12.8 million dollars and 31 percent growth. That number cannot show which line is funding the next stage, and which is being carried by the other two.

02

Flat headcount, rising revenue

Revenue rose from 7.43 million in 2023 to 12.8 million in 2025 while Smart50 citations show headcount unchanged at 19. That is a genuine productivity gain, but those same 19 people now run three product lines instead of one. Without a line by line view, it is hard to know if that gain is spread evenly or concentrated in a single line.

A target without a stated plan

Taskforce has told SmartCompany it is targeting 50 to 60 percent revenue growth a year for three years, funded organically rather than through a further raise. No public source breaks that target down by product line or states where the investment goes first. A costed, line by line view would turn the public ambition into a working plan.

These observations are offered in good faith. Taskforce has built something genuinely fast growing. The question is simply whether the margin behind each line matches the ambition in front of it.
